

Christmas Parade moves at 2 p.m. Saturday

Coronation tonight

The 1972 Christmas shopping season in Washington C.H. will officially be opened at 7 p.m. tonight with the crowning of Little Miss and Miss Snow princesses on the Courthouse lawn and the annual Community Christmas Parade traveling through the downtown district at 2 p.m. Saturday.

A total of 12 candidates from all elementary schools in the city and county will vie for the title of Little Miss Snow Princess while three girls from Washington Senior High School and four from Miami Trace High School will seek the Miss Snow Princess title.

Judging of the queens was scheduled to take place at 2:30 p.m. today at the Washington Savings Bank. Marshall D. Boggs, former superintendent of city schools, will crown the two winners during the Courthouse lawn ceremony at 7 p.m. Judges for the two contests are Mrs. Ruth Fries, Miss Marion Osborn and Mrs. Jean Mickle.

Other highlights of the Friday evening entertainment will include a concert by the Miami Trace Folk Singers under the direction of Mrs. Cinda Stinson, and the lighting of the Courthouse decorations to officially launch the Christmas season.

CANDIDATES for the Miss Snow Princess title are Diane Sagar, Jean Beaucler and Mel Mustain from Washington Senior High School, and Cathy Woodfork, Jo Lynn LeBeau, Sue Conner and Connie Staybrook from Miami Trace High School.

Candidates for the Little Miss Snow Princess title, which was open to all girls in the county between the first and third grades, are Robin Hicks, Sunnyside; Michele Ann Dollison, Rose Avenue; Tina Marie Anschutz, Madison Mills; Lisa Walters, Good Hope; Christa K. Sowers, Staunton; Lori Barton, Bloomingburg; Jana Leigh Gettelfinger, Chaffin, Milissa Rae Gilmore, Cherry Hill; Michele Elliot, Eastside; April Anderson, Belle Aire; Patricia Davis, Jeffersonville, and Diane Wright, New Holland.

ALTHOUGH Saturday's parade does not step off until 2 p.m., the lineup will begin to form on Willard Street at 12:30 p.m. in order that the floats may be judged. Judges for the commercial and homemade floats will be Judge Otis R. Hess Sr., presiding judge of the First District Court of Appeals, Cincinnati; State Sen. Max H. Dennis, of Wilmington; and Eddie Kirk, president of the Fayette County Fair Board.

There will be 9 bands, 19 commercial floats, 18 homemade floats and 20 marching and miscellaneous units in the line of march Saturday from Willard Street onto Columbus Avenue and down Court Street, Clinton Avenue and Fairview Avenue to the Fairground.

Mrs. Santa Claus, this year's parade grand marshal, will lead the parade behind a police and sheriff's escort. The Banana Splits, from the Kings Island family entertainment center, will be about midway in the line of march, and Santa Claus will have his special place in the parade.

Immediately following the parade, Santa Claus will distribute free treats to area youngsters on the Courthouse lawn.

Ohio Senate panel ponders death penalty

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee was expected to decide today whether to include the death penalty in the omnibus state criminal code revision bill.

Chairman Max Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, who personally opposes capital punishment, predicted the panel would vote to retain it, despite a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that death sentences were cruel and unusual punishment as currently administered.

Dennis said he would offer an alternative proposal of life imprisonment without opportunity of parole for convicted murderers.

"I think the committee sentiment, however, is to return to capital punishment in some form and I think this sentiment was reinforced by the recent vote in California," Dennis said.

California voters earlier this month approved a state constitutional amendment reinstating the death penalty in four types of cases and authorizing the legislature to impose mandatory death penalties for other types of crime.

Capital punishment is the last hurdle to clear before committee approval of the criminal code revision bill, which was passed earlier by the House.

There are indications the measure could be approved by the Senate in the final session of the 109th General Assembly, which begins Tuesday.

The bill would have to go to a House-Senate conference committee for resolution of differences, and sponsors believe retention of the death penalty probably would get stronger support in the more conservative House.

However, Democrats, who will take control of the House when the 110th General Assembly convenes Jan. 1, could move to delay final action on the bill.

Nixon meets with Volpe and Romney

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon unexpectedly shifted his operations back to the White House today after spending a secluded Thanksgiving Day with his family at Camp David, Md.

Presidential meetings are scheduled with Secretary of Transportation John Volpe and Secretary of Housing and Urban Development George Romney. Nixon saved them the helicopter trip to the Maryland mountaintop retreat, where he has been holding a series of meetings with top officials and mapping plans for his second term.

Nixon and his family returned to the White House Thursday night. No special reason was given for Nixon's sudden change in plans.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said only that Nixon decided to meet with the two Cabinet officials at the White House.

Nixon has been at Camp David since Nov. 13, with the only break a one-day return to the White House last Saturday.

He observed the Thanksgiving holiday at Camp David with his family. The only absent member was Lt. (j.g.) David Eisenhower, on Navy duty in the Mediterranean. The Nixons, accompanied by three pet dogs, enjoyed a long walk on the crisp cold fall day along the snow-dusted mountaintop. The holiday dinner included a 14-pound roast turkey and all the trimmings.

The President also watched holiday football games on television and worked for a time in his study.

Weather

Clear and not so cold tonight, lows in the upper 20s to the mid 30s. Increasing cloudiness and warmer Saturday with a chance of rain by afternoon, highs in the mid 40s to the low 50s.

'Called-off' meeting held

Kissinger and Tho in secret session

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho met for an hour today at a suburban rendezvous after putting out word that the meeting had been called off.

A television crew of the Columbia Broadcasting System tracked Kissinger to the secret meeting place in Choussy-le-Roi, not far from the North Vietnamese delegation headquarters.

Kissinger told a CBS reporter on the spot that he planned to meet Tho again Saturday.

The North Vietnamese delegation earlier announced that there would be no meeting today, and American sources tacitly confirmed the announcement.

It appeared that the two delegations were trying to throw newsmen and photographers off the track after the earlier meeting place at Gif-sur-Yvette was discovered — also by a CBS television crew.

A North Vietnamese delegation spokesman told newsmen: "There will probably be no meeting today. You will be informed in due course when the next meeting takes place."

Kissinger and Tho held their longest meeting Thursday since the current round of secret peace negotiations began. The White House said the talks will resume but that it didn't know when.

The American and the North Vietnamese negotiators met for six hours on the cease-fire agreement they drafted last month, but kept to their agreed news blackout on the subjects under discussion.

It was the fourth straight day of talks in a suburban villa 15 miles southwest of Paris. On Monday they met for 5½ hours, on Tuesday for 4½ and on Wednesday for 3½.

The two delegations lunched together, and Kissinger and Tho emerged several times into the walled garden, walking up and down in animated and apparently friendly conversation.

They punctuated their remarks with sweeping gestures and at one point Tho grasped Kissinger's arm in a friendly manner.

The two came to the garden gate after lunch and allowed themselves to be photographed together. Photographers shouted for them to pose shaking hands, but they ignored the request.

Kissinger, as usual, left first after the meeting and drove back to the U.S. Embassy to report to President Nixon. Tho, as usual, arrived first and left last. The villa is owned by the French Communist party.

Earlier in the day, South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu's security adviser, Nguyen Phu Duc, arrived from Saigon. Thieu presumably sent Duc to Paris to reaffirm his objections to some parts of the draft, particularly the failure to require the withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops from South Vietnam and re-establishment of the demilitarized zone.

Hanoi officials have rejected both demands.

Marie Wilson, actress, dead

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Marie Wilson liked to tell a classic story about a bygone movie era. It was the time she faked running out of gas in front of a director's home.

"You look like a good picture type to me," she quoted him as telling her as he gallantly fetched some gas. "Maybe I might be able to find work for you. I'm a director. Where can you be reached?"

Miss Wilson, a blonde buxom beauty, made the nation laugh for a decade as the comedienne star of the long-running "My Friend Irma Show" of early network television and coast-to-coast radio programs.

When she died of cancer Thanksgiving Day at the age of 56, she had been out of a once-glittering limelight for two decades, except for brief moments.

She signed her first contract with Warner Brothers in the 1930s at the age of 15. She was still a teen-ager when she thought her career was sputtering and pulled the empty tank ruse — and won a part.

70 elderly lose homes

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Within the next three weeks 70 elderly people will be turned out of their downtown hotel homes.

The State fire marshal's office has condemned the Rogge and Clarendon Hotels because of inadequate wiring and lack of sprinkler systems.

Mrs. A. P. Rogge, who owns both of the hotels, said she had been operating the hotels at a loss for several years because she "has sympathy for the elderly."

Mrs. Rogge's attorneys are seeking a 30-day extension of the Dec. 13 closing deadline.

Rain is disastrous to Midwest crops

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Weeks of rain and snow in the Midwest have bogged down what otherwise would have been a good year for cash crops.

The United States Department of Agriculture had estimated that November's corn crop would be 5.4 billion bushels, a 3 per cent increase over 1971 production. The estimate for soybean yield was 1.35 billion bushels, a 15 per cent increase.

Then the rains came. Precipitation in the Chicago area, typical of the Midwest, has been 6.42 inches since Oct. 1, compared to a norm of 4.04 inches, according to the National Weather Service.

The storms have left fields too wet to harvest and unable to bear the weight of heavy farm equipment.

Last year, Warren Langdon's grain elevator in Wabash, Ind., processed 100,000 bushels of soybeans and 150,000 bushels of corn in November. This year, Langdon said, his Richvalley Cooperative Elevator handled 30,000 bushels of corn and just 100 bushels of soybeans through mid-November.

Farm officials in Indiana say corn and soybean farmers lose an estimated $1 million for each day those cash crops go unharvested.

In Minnesota, 18 counties have been declared disaster areas, and the Farm Home Administration has received nearly 2,000 applications for emergency loans from farmers.

The Minnesota Crop and Livestock Reporting Service still estimates the corn crop at 3 per cent above last year and the soybean yield at a whopping 41 per cent above 1971 — if the farmers can get them out of the fields.

In Nebraska, excellent fall harvest weather led to predictions of record corn, soybean, grain sorghum and sugar beet crops. But early last week, a snowstorm dumped up to nine inches on the mature crops, driving sorghum heads to the ground and making them more difficult to harvest.

Some farmers say a freeze would enable them to get their heavy equipment onto the rain-softened fields.

Others say that if the sun shines and the wind blows, the fields may dry enough for a break-even year in all but the most severely damaged areas.

"All we need is some sunshine, three weeks of it," said Milo Thurston, a soybean farmer whose home Pulaski County in southern Illinois has had only nine days of full or partial sunshine in the last six weeks.

Name Armco in complaint

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission today issued proposed complaints charging that Aluminum Co. of America has illegal interlocking directorates with Kennecott Copper Corp. and Armco Steel Co.

One complaint by the FTC against Alcoa and Kennecott cites Russell DeYoung, said to be a director of both companies. The FTC said the competition involves the interchangeability of aluminum and copper in products.

The other complaint against Alcoa and Armco cites John Meyer, said to be a director of both firms. What is involved here, the FTC said, is the interchangeability of aluminum and steel in such products as siding.

The FTC alleges that the interlocking directorates violate the Clayton Antitrust Act, which forbids any person to hold directorships in two competing companies when either company has capital surplus and undivided profits totalling more than $1 million.

The FTC said it will seek a consent agreement barring the allegedly illegal director interlocks by the companies and individuals cited.

the two-year-old law under which such businesses are licensed.

But the division's John Gillespie says business ethics and the power to get court injunctions against shady detective operations will be the first areas in the law the division will try to strengthen.

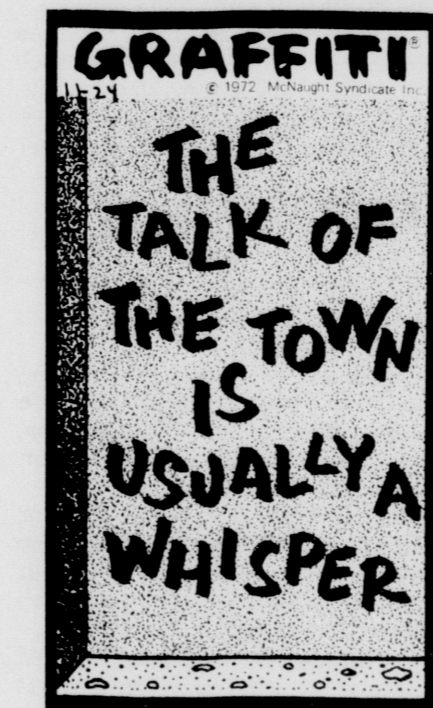

Tests and training standards for individual guards and detectives will have to wait. "You have to go a step at a time," Gillespie said. "It's still a new law."

"We had thought about putting in some experience requirements for individual employees earlier this year," he said. "But the industry doesn't like that idea too well."

Gillespie said the average security guard in Ohio earns $1.72 an hour, and agency owners fear they would have to pay more if they demanded more experience and training of new employees.

Even with the limited provisions under the present law, Gillespie and his 14-man agency, which is also responsible for licensing auctioneers and employment agencies, has its hands full enforcing it.

Ohio traffic toll mounts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A head-on collision in Morgan County Thursday took the lives of five persons — four from the same family — and sharply increased Ohio's Thanksgiving weekend holiday traffic death toll.

The Ohio Department of Highway Safety has predicted that 31 will die in traffic accidents during the 102-hour holiday period which began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ends at midnight Sunday.

Nine Ohioans have been killed on the state's roads since the weekend began.

The Morgan County accident occurred when a car driven by Roger D. Delancy, 22, of Columbus, went across the center of Ohio 266 on a hill and smashed into an auto driven by Marlow

10 children orphaned in pre-holiday slaying

MIAMI (AP) — When Inora Wright's 10 children sat down to Thanksgiving dinner, their mother wasn't with them. The woman who worked three jobs as the sole support of her family was shot to death four days before.

Police said Mrs. Wright, 48, and a friend, Isiah Woodside, 24, got in an argument at her home Monday evening. Both reached for a pistol, the gun went off, and Mrs. Wright died on the operating table at Jackson Memorial Hospital a few hours later with a bullet wound in her neck.

Police said they have not yet determined if charges will be filed.

Last July, Mrs. Wright received a $1,500 reward for helping police track down two youths who killed a security guard during a robbery at the Eagle Army-Navy surplus store where she worked.

She used the money to move her children to a better home.

"Inora tried raising those children under the most extremely trying circumstances," said Miami Beach Police Chief Rocky Pomerance, who employed Mrs. Wright as a weekend maid. "She wanted a decent home for her kids."

"She was a fine woman who got involved and did the right thing."

Police said that Mrs. Wright received threatening and malicious telephone calls for months after she helped police find the slayers.

Her youngest child, daughter Jackie, 10, also witnessed the guard's killing and was attacked and beaten with a pipe.

"I don't remember much of that," Jackie said. "Mamma said we should do the right thing, so we told police. Mamma said we should always do the right thing, no matter what."

Abraham Rahming, manager of the store where Mrs. Wright worked as a cashier for four years, said she was a "backbreakingly hard worker."

In addition to her job at the store and her weekend work as a maid, Mrs. Wright also worked as a babysitter to make ends meet, Rahming said.

The children, eight girls and two boys, had Thanksgiving dinner Thursday at a friend's house, and police said they would now live in the custody of Bobby Wright, 30, oldest of Mrs. Wright's children.

Jackie went to the store where her mother used to work to wish everyone a happy Thanksgiving.

She told customers and employees about the big meal she and her brothers and sisters were going to have. Then she added, "But mamma won't be there."

into an operation if it was shaky," Gillespie said. "Right now we can't."

Another problem, Gillespie said, is that the division can't do anything about exorbitant fees for investigative work or for people who claim investigators didn't do their jobs.

"We'd like to get injunction power where we could stop any illegal action on the spot," he said.

One of the more worrisome aspects of the lack of training requirements for guards and investigators is that they

Probe lack of firearm training for private agents

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State and local governments have no way to assure that the 16,500 civilians in Ohio who carry guns as part of their jobs know how to use them safely.

The pistol packing Ohioans are employees of 347 private detective and security guard agencies. The only thing the state knows about them is that they haven't been convicted of a felony.

The state Commerce Department's licensing division, which certifies the agencies, says it would like to toughen

Deputy slain, youth found dead in barn

TROY, Ohio (AP)—Ballistics tests are being made to determine if John D. Withers, 16, of Dayton, shot himself or was killed by bullets lawmen fired into a barn where he had taken refuge after the murder of a deputy sheriff.

The youth was found dead in the barn on a farm three miles south of here by some of the about 200 law officers who surrounded the building Wednesday after Miami County deputy William Morris, 42, was shot to death nearby. Another Dayton youth believed to have been involved in the incident, Virgil Charles Bryant Jr., 15, remained in custody here on delinquency and auto theft charges.

Bryant was arrested at his home Wednesday night on the basis of evidence found at the shooting scene, the sheriff's department said.

Morris, a father of three sons, was killed when he went to the area to investigate a reported car theft in progress. He was shot several times in the head and left dead in a ditch.

Police from Miami and several neighboring counties converged on the farm and circled the barn. After shots were exchanged, a group of officers wearing bullet-proof vests entered the barn and found Withers dead.

Officials said powder burns on Withers' body gave a preliminary indication that he had killed himself. A military M-1 carbine and two clips of ammunition were near his body.

D. Sells, 43, of Marietta, according to the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Sells and four passengers in the Delancy auto were killed. The victims in Delancy's car were identified as: Ronald E. Farnsworth, 22, and his wife, Ann, 16, and Ronald's two sisters, Bonnie, 18, and Phyllis, 10, all of Coal Run in Washington County.

Another Farnsworth child, Richard, 12, is in critical condition in Marietta Memorial Hospital. Delancy is also in Marietta Memorial Hospital in critical condition.

The highway patrol said that Delancy is not related to the Farnsworths.

Officers said the Delancy car shot into the air after the collision and turned over and landed on top of at least two victims who had been thrown out of the car. A wrecker had to be used to free the persons caught in the vehicle.

The weekend death toll is running below the prediction made by the safety department, which averages out to about one death every three hours.

Britain's railways return to normal

LONDON (AP) — Britain's railways returned to normal today after a 24-hour strike that shut down the nation's rail services.

The strike by 29,000 employees was called after British rail management moved an experimental 150-mile-an-hour train that had been blacklisted by trainmen demanding new pay scales for manning it.

The 11 women hired so far "act like ladies and they're treated like ladies," said a prison official. There have been no problems so far, least of all with rough language.

The prison's nursing director, Sandra Wells, said inmates and employees alike know now "it doesn't matter if they swear. In fact, I might swear at the employees myself."

"But I never swear at the inmates," she added.

Nobody's misbehaved around social worker Cindy Turvey, 25, either. She said she could "damage somebody pretty badly if I had to" since she learned self-defense during her two years as a Marine Corps lieutenant.

The women add that some of the inmates take them as "mother figures" instead of "sex objects" and that the inmates themselves are ready to protect them if the need arises.

One reason there has been no trouble with inmates making advances to women, explains a correction officer, is that "the minute one did, you'd see all sorts of other inmates coming to the girl's defense."

"You learn a certain element of trust in inmates," said Mrs. Turvy, who has worked in the prison since August.

Mrs. Wells said her husband objected when she was first assigned to the prison because she'd once been beaten up by a mental patient while working at a state hospital in Columbus.

He gave his approval after looking over the Chillicothe facility, she said.

'72 Thanksgiving passes; nation awaits Christmas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The parades are over, the turkey is gone and the clock has run out on the day's last football game. Thanksgiving 1972 is a slightly stuffed memory and Christmas is around the corner.

Thousands of spectators turned out in nippy weather in New York, Philadelphia and Detroit for traditional parades Thursday. Millions more across the country watched the marches on television.

One notable casualty of the New York march — the huge balloon Donald Duck punctured his wrist on a tree limb and suffered a deflated hand. Officials said the balloon was due for retirement anyway.

Following the parades there was a procession of football games across the television screen. President Nixon tuned in to at least two of the contests at his Camp David retreat in Maryland.

The First Family spent a generally quiet day, enjoying a long walk with three pet dogs on the wooded mountaintop area to work up an appetite for the 14-pound turkey and trimmings served up by Navy stewards.

Canned, boned turkey was on the menu for 28,000 U.S. troops still in Vietnam. The 620th Tactical Communications Squadron shared its dinner with 386 children from the China Beach Protestant Orphanage.

Family get-togethers are a tradition for the day and one of the larger such gatherings was in Chicago Heights, Ill., where 95 of Agnes Joyce's relatives turned out to help her celebrate her carry guns and occasionally show poor judgment using them.

In Cleveland, two cases are pending now in which security personnel are charged with improper use of weapons, although police there say the problem is not too serious.

Cincinnati police also recall three or four recent cases of poor judgment by private guards in the use of guns, but they also say these are too rare to be considered a serious problem.

But Gillespie says he has heard complaints from around the state about guns and about instances in which guards or detectives have impersonated or assaulted police officers. "Some of them even put a red light on their cars and run down speeders," he said. "For the fun and the power, I guess."

"Before we had the law I heard it was even worse," he added. "There was quite a bit of shooting and weapons trouble and there were cases of a bystander being shot by a guard."

The chief investigator for one of Ohio's largest private investigative agencies, Herb Kunze, conceded his men might not have adequate training in the use of their weapons.

"Gun training is quite a problem," Kunze said. "We used to use the police range, but now it's more or less that every now and then a group of us goes out to the farm and shoot together. Nothing regular."

But Kunze, of the National Detective Bureau in Columbus, maintained that the state ought to make it easier for private guards and detectives to use guns in their work.

"You know we can't carry concealed weapons and that means we can't take guns in our cars when we make our rounds," Kunze said. "We had a man once who caught someone burgling a safe and all he had was tear gas and a flashlight...so he got beat up pretty bad."

In some cases private security people can obtain a local police commission to use a gun with the same authority as a police officer. But these are rare, largely because the police chief is responsible if anything goes wrong.

Kunze said his firm handles just about every kind of security and investigation work.

"We investigate employee thefts and we do guarding," he said. "Of course we all get divorce cases, although they aren't the ones we really like to have."

"We also take private individuals with legal problems. Like maybe there's a person listed as a suicide and the family thinks it was murder, then we look into it."

Kunze says his men rarely have trouble when their paths cross with the police.

"We tell them that police are like mother-in-laws," he said. "You treat them nice if you know what's good for you."

Women work with inmates at Chillicothe; doing well

CHILICOTHE, Ohio (AP)—Among other things, they were worried that women might not be able to put up with rough language when Chillicothe Correctional Institute began hiring women to work with inmates.

They don't worry about that anymore.

The 11 women hired so far "act like ladies and they're treated like ladies," said a prison official. There have been no problems so far, least of all with rough language.

The prison's nursing director, Sandra Wells, said inmates and employees alike know now "it doesn't matter if they swear. In fact, I might swear at the employees myself."

"But I never swear at the inmates," she added.

Nobody's misbehaved around social worker Cindy Turvey, 25, either. She said she could "damage somebody pretty badly if I had to" since she 73rd birthday.

The group that sat down to eight turkeys in a rented church hall included 9 of her 11 children, 40 grandchildren, 28 great-grandchildren plus assorted cousins, nephews and nieces.

There was a protest in Plymouth, Mass., where the American Thanksgiving originated, according to some historians. Representatives of 12 New England Indian tribes held a "day of mourning."

The demonstrators gathered around the statue of Massasoit, the Wampanoag chief who welcomed the Pilgrims in 1621 and signed a treaty with them that lasted 50 years.

In an earlier statement the group explained: "These Indians are fasting to mourn the loss of Indian life and culture which for them began with the arrival of the Pilgrims."

Stock market activity slow

NEW YORK (AP) — Bluechips strengthened today, but trading was slow due to the absence of many investors who were on an extended Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 2.04 to 1022.58.

Declines and advances were running about even among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Robert Stovall, research director for Reynolds Securities Inc., said the market had a number of excuses to embark on profit-taking — which he said was overdue after the market's sharp rise — including the increased margin minimum cash requirements and the pause in the Paris cease-fire negotiations.

The New York Stock Exchange index of more than 1,400 common stocks was off .01 to 63.93 at noon. On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was up .01 at 26.29.

Dear Abby . . .

The wedding bells 'ring'; she gets wrong number

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Wow, this is a problem like I'll bet you've never had before! My fiancé, who I haven't known very long but I know well enough to marry, "surprised" me with a set of rings which he and his mother picked out.
I'm crazy about the guy, but I don't like those rings. They are absolutely nothing like I would have picked out if I had been along. They are so ornate and gaudy. All I wanted was a simple solitaire diamond and a wide golden band. I guess the problem is that when he gave them to me I was so thrilled (not with the rings, but at being officially engaged) I said I "loved" the rings.

Now what am I going to do? Am I stuck with these rings? Or should I wait until he's in a good mood and ask him if he can exchange them for another set? He must have spent a fortune on them.

ENGAGED AND DISAPPOINTED
DEAR ENGAGED: Tell him the truth. But don't wait too long.

DEAR ABBY: I am a grown woman, married for 20 years, and I have had this problem ever since I can remember.

Nobody wants to listen to me! They just want ME to listen to THEM! It seems that whenever I am talking, somebody interrupts me. I make it a point never to interrupt people when they are talking, but I am interrupted all the time. In fact, I'm a very good listener. Abby, I can be right in the middle of a very interesting story and the person to whom I am talking will suddenly turn to someone else and start up a conversation. It is simply infuriating. I am not dull or stupid. I read a lot and have much to contribute to a conversation.

What on earth is the matter with people? Nobody, but nobody wants to listen to me. All they want to do is talk themselves. This happens to me even on the telephone.

America's first fog-warning device was included in the construction in 1808 of West Quoddy Light, the most northern lighthouse along the rockbound coast of Maine. Sixty dollars were added to the lighthouse keeper's $300 yearly pay for beating a 500-pound bell with a hammer on frequent foggy days.

NOT LISTENED TO
DEAR NOT: If absolutely nobody listens to you, there must be a reason for it. Do you speak distinctly, clearly and in an audible voice? How much do you talk? Some people can listen to a point — then they become weary. You claim to be a very good listener. Listen to yourself sometime. If you are interesting, and pause occasionally to give others a chance to talk, you should have no problem.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please check with your protocol experts and advise me if it would be in good taste to enclose a card with the wedding invitations indicating that the bride-to-be is registered in a certain jewelry store? I thank you.

ANONYMOUS
DEAR ANONYMOUS: Unless one is asked, to suggest by card or any other way where a gift may be purchased is in extremely poor taste.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HAD IT UP TO HERE: I don't recommend "locking a husband out of the house" — why provide him with a perfect excuse for sleeping elsewhere?

Opinion And Comment

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Demo splintering could grow

WASHINGTON — "It might have been worse" — that is the refrain of many Democrats consoling themselves in the aftermath of the political earthquake. But examination of some of the strange cracks in the once-confident surface of the Democratic carapace suggests it may get a lot worse before it gets better.

The splintering process with minorities taking off on their own was comparatively slight in the recent election. George McGovern got the overwhelming vote of the blacks and, while this is harder to sort out, of the Chicanos also. He was their candidate, and the radical image, whether real or a label pinned on him by the opposition, gave them no trouble at all.

What can happen down the road, looking to 1974 and '76, is another matter. A foretaste of the splintering process was evident in a contest in Texas, overlooked in the Nixon landslide, to which Texans contributed their Texas-size share of 66 per cent of the state's vote.

On the television screens through the night a close race for governor seasawed back and forth. In the end the Democrat, Dolph Briscoe, won with 1,535,752 votes to 1,454,383 for the Republican Hank C. Stover. But a third candidate, Ramsey Muniz, running on a La Raza Unida (The Race United) Chicano ticket got 209,466 votes. If the Briscoe - Stover contest had been as close as first forecast La Raza Unida would have swung the balance to the Republican. On the national level the Nixon - Agnew ticket got an estimated 49 per cent of the Spanish-speaking vote.

THE CHICANO party, fielding a gubernatorial candidate, grew out of local successes in largely Mexican-American areas. They had little money and not too much organization. With more of both they might have done better than the relatively small per cent of the Chicano potential they polled.

In their excellent study, the Ethnic Factor, published earlier this year, Mark R. Levy and Michael S. Kramer say that at one point an independent black party was considered. This might have happened if the Democratic nominee had been a centrist — Edmund Muskie or Hubert Humphrey — judged by activist blacks as less responsive to black demands.

Looking at the 1968 returns, the authors conclude that an independent black candidacy would have solidified Nixon's narrow gains in state after state. Black defectors to their own candidate would in all probability have given the electoral votes of Maryland and Pennsylvania to Nixon rather than to Humphrey, the Democratic challenger.

An independent black candidate would have given Nixon an extra three percentage points in California and New Jersey and an extra one percentage point in Ohio and Wisconsin. These were states Nixon carried by small margins.

How much race was an issue in the election will long be debated. The black vote was down in 1968 from previous levels. It was down this time from 1968. The common explanation is that McGovern failed to turn on black crowds.

THE EFFORT to register and get out black voters has long fallen short. Dallas, where recently there has been racial unrest, has 117,057 registered black voters, which is 83 per cent of the potential. On election day 59,507 blacks voted, 50.8 per cent of the potential.

Whether black political strength, so long tied to the Democratic party, will be mustered as an independent force is the great unknown. The meeting of blacks of all persuasions in Gary, Ind., last march was a loud roar for black power. Out of it came the National Black Assembly, a tripartite governing body which met in Chicago in October. With a string element of separatism this could end in a national black political party fielding a presidential candidate.

Paper structures and ringing pronouncements of vfuture glory, these have been substitutes for the tough nuts-and-bolts organizing effort to marshal the mass of black voters. Yet coming out on the short end on Nov. 7, with the Nixon team using a variety of code words to stigmatize blacks, the activists, the militants may gear up for 1976.

They had their victories. Turning out in the black wards of Chicago they helped to defeat Edward V. Hanrahan, Mayor Richard Daley's candidate for state's attorney. Three new black members, two of them women, were added to the House, making 16 with those re-elected. For the militants this is tokenism far short of their goal.

Glass recycling day gets roar of approval

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — This city of jazz, spicy creole cuisine and fever-pitched Mardi Gras celebrations recently received what might be called a "roar" of approval for its observance of Glass Recycling Day.

A cleanup and glass recycling campaign called Operation Double

Barrel was held to spruce up the environs of the city and to help raise funds to improve the Audubon Zoo.

Residents responded by turning in 57,000 pounds of used bottles and jars for re recycling, and a member company of the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute paid a penny a pound which will be contributed to the Audubon Park Improvement Fund.

Cottonwood leaves problem in Sandusky

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Cottonwood tree leaves piled in gutters in compliance with new state open air burning laws were the culprit in Sandusky's water shortage problems last week, a city commissioner says.

City Commissioner Harold Schaeffer says 90 per cent of the debris from last week's storm that blocked up the city's water plant was cottonwood leaves.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Normally, Mrs. E. A. Kolmeier's two dogs, Waldo and Elmer, have a nose for news.

TO: City Police Department

DEAR OFFICERS: The little woman and I just returned from a trip to the Sunshine State to find our property secure and in good order. It goes without saying that it gives us peace of mind to know that we can request a house check while we are away and not worry about our property. So often these days we forget to add that little ingredient. Here it is — thanks.

Miss Reedy, Mr. Merriman are united in marriage

Miss Vicki Ellen Reedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Reedy, of Jeffersonville, and Donald W. Merriman Jr., of Columbus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Merriman Sr., of Deacon's Walk, Newark, Del., were united in marriage Nov. 11.

The Rev. Charles W. Hill and the Rev. Fr. William Daughtery officiated for the double-ring ceremony at 6:30 p.m. in the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church. Mrs. Marlin Dutt, Detroit, Mich., vocalist, and Mrs. Kenneth Spahr, organist, presented a prelude of music.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Reedy wore an A-line gown of satin with Chantilly lace bodice and long sleeves. Her chapel length veil, combined with a shorter veil, was attached to a lace headpiece. The dress and veil were fashioned by her mother. She carried an arrangement of stephanotis, pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Miss Pamela Baber, her maid of honor, wore a pink velvet gown with empire waist and A-line skirt with a matching bow in her hair. She carried three long-stemmed roses. Mrs. David Morrow, Miss Kendra Wuest and Miss Rhonda Baber, all of Jeffersonville, and Mrs. John Buskirk, of Columbus, were the bridesmaids. Miss Lisa Merriman, of Newark, Del., was the junior bridesmaid. Each carried two long-stemmed roses.

The other attendants wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor and ivory rosebud necklaces, gifts of the bride.

The bride's mother chose an ensemble of blue double-knit with blue coat and matching accessories. The groom's mother wore a green velvet dress with gold accessories. Both wore corsages of pink sweetheart roses.

Michael McCurnin, of Newark, Del., was the best man and the ushers were Don Norris, John and Kirby Hidy, John Buskirk and Tim Early.

Hostesses for the reception in the fellowship room of the church following the ceremony were Mrs. Charles Grubb and Miss Regina Rodenfels and Miss Sandy Denton, both of Columbus, and Mrs. Ron Pope, of Hartsville. Mrs. William Black, of Dayton, presided at the guest book.

Her husband, a graduate of John Dickinson High School, University of Delaware, Columbus Business University and Brandywine University, is associated with the credit department of Sears, in Columbus.

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A few years ago I contracted "serum hepatitis" from a blood transfusion after surgery.

Some friends still think that it is not safe to visit me because they think it's contagious.

Could you straighten them out?

Mrs. F. W., N.J.

Dear Mrs. W.:

The type of hepatitis you acquired through a blood transfusion is known as "homologous serum hepatitis." Like other forms of hepatitis, or infections of the liver, the cause is definitely some type of virus.

Blood contaminated with this virus, when introduced into the bloodstream of a patient during transfusion, may set up an inflammation of the liver. For this reason, all blood now in use is under strict surveillance to be sure that donors are not obviously carriers of illness.

Rigid attention to sterilization of all instruments has materially reduced the danger of this complication to transfusion.

New chemical methods are now being tried to detect the presence of a substance known as the "australian antigen" to further reduce the complication of hepatitis.

Your friends do themselves and you an injustice by falsely believing that contact with you presents any hazard to them. The condition you had is certainly not contagious or transmissible to them.

Would you write something about diet pills for weight reduction?

My doctor refuses to prescribe them and I cannot get them.

Mrs. P. J., Tex.

Dear Mrs. J.:

The drugs that you refer to in the rest of your letter are the trade names for a group of drugs known as amphetamines. These drugs are artificial stimulants which can cause insomnia and an increase in the rate of the heart.

There are a great many other side effects besides the loss of appetite for which the drug is far too often taken, with and without the advice of a doctor. The amphetamine drugs are potentially hazardous, and dependence on them in increasing doses is not unusual.

Your doctor's failure to prescribe these drugs for you is undoubtedly based on his good judgment in relation to your general condition.

Obviously, his interest in your safety is misunderstood by you in your desire to find a quick and easy way to lose weight.

There are many excellent safe and nourishing diets that are so low in calories that a loss of weight must follow.

To attain the weight reduction you want you must follow the safe dictates of your doctor rather than the advice of enthusiastic friends.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH:
One of the greatest gifts you can give a child is to avoid overindulgence.

Bob-tailed mountain lion to be turned loose by zoo

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The mother of an 8-week-old mountain lion might have done the kitten — and her entire species — a favor when she bit off the youngster's tail.

Because the bob-tailed kitten is not considered a fitting specimen for zoo display, wildlife officials say it will be trained to hunt and will be returned to California's mountains.

"To our knowledge, it will be the first domestically born mountain lion to be released," the San Francisco Zoo zoologist Paul Maxwell said Monday.

New Jersey gets lottery under way

By MICHAEL C. SINCLAIR
Associated Press Writer

New Jersey began selling daily lottery tickets today, becoming the first of six Northeastern states with lotteries to take on their major competition, organized crime, in dollar-to-dollar combat.

For the first time since the modern public lottery began in New Hampshire in 1964, lottery officials hope to make their system competitive with the illegal numbers racket.

The first of New Jersey's daily drawings will be on Wednesday and daily lotteries should be in operation in the other five states by next spring. The main objective for the states is to raise revenues, but the motive is even more basic.

Gov. William T. Cahill of New Jersey said his state — in addition to continuing its weekly lottery which eventually culminates in a $1 million drawing — will offer a 26-to-1 chance of winning on the daily tickets.

"We know of no other lottery — legal or illegal — now in existence that can match those odds," he said. "Even if you lose, your money is going for a good purpose, rather than an evil purpose."

There is yet another reason for the daily drawings: the hopes of state officials to sustain the public's interest in lotteries.

Frost stings wide area of country

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frost and a hard freeze stung most of the eastern third of the nation today, reaching south as far as Alabama and Georgia.

Strong winds blew over several sections of the country, particularly the eastern slopes of the Rockies in Montana and over the northern Great Lakes, where they reached gale force.

Temperatures were on the cold side for nearly the entire country with the exception of southern Florida and southern California.

Much of Texas was pelted with rain which changed to snow over the Southern Rockies. A heavy snow blanketed portions of New Mexico east of the Rio Grande Valley.

Rain also soaked the Pacific Northwest, turning to snow in the mountains of Idaho and Montana. Dense fog in the central valley of California made driving hazardous as visibility dropped near zero.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 10 at Ely, Nev., to 67 at Key West, Fla.

Mover finds $800 pinned beneath chest

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Ruth Grande is $800 richer thanks to an honest moving company worker who found it pinned beneath a bedroom chest.

She said the money was probably placed there by her husband who died three years ago.

"He was always putting money away to keep from going into debt," she said. She gave the worker $100 for a reward.

disassociate it from people."

After Sioux goes on solid foods, he will be moved to San Francisco Zoo, where zoologists have successfully released captive golden eagles, hawks and animals.

Maxwell said he hopes that, if necessary, mountain lions can be bred in captivity and released like trout and pheasants.

Council takes action against beer permit in Eastside school area

The Mike Kelley Construction Co., of Oklahoma City, Okla., which has proposed the construction of a Pizza Hut restaurant at 409 S. Elm Street, will be solidly opposed in its application to the Ohio Department of Liquor Control for a D-1 beer permit for the restaurant.

City Council Wednesday night unanimously approved a resolution of opposition to the issuance of the permit, pledged full cooperation to the City Board of Education, which also is opposing the permit issuance, and instructed City Solicitor James A. Kiger to so notify the Department of Liquor Control.

The City Board of Education, according to a similar resolution passed more than two weeks ago will formally oppose the issuance of the license because of the restaurant's closeness to Eastside Elementary School.

Council also contemplated the rezoning of the property on which construction of the restaurant is proposed, but apparently chose not to pursue that avenue on the advice of the city solicitor.

IN OTHER action, Council authorized the city manager to receive bids for gasoline, Street Department supplies and fleet insurance; authorized him to enter into a contract with Ralph Hickman, Inc., for the purchase of three cruisers for the Police Department; authorized the purchase of salt;

Authorized the payment of $1,587.91 to Sever-Williams Construction Co. for work performed in connection with the establishment of additional administrative office facilities; established by ordinance a federal revenue sharing trust fund as required by federal regulations; adopted a resolution of intent to vacate an alley; received a report on election results pertaining to the city's four millage issues which were defeated at the polls Nov. 7;

Took under advisement a request from Councilman Joseph O'Brien that two pieces of equipment — a street vacuum for leaf pickup and hydraulic lift to replace a truck ladder in the Street Department — be purchased immediately;

Received a report from Orville Dixon, Sewage Treatment Plant superintendent, concerning a seminar on environmental problems, programs and prospects he attended in Columbus; heard the announcement that a wastewater management workshop will be held in Columbus Dec. 8 which all councilmen are urged to attend; and heard complaints concerning chuckholes in streets and the blocking of a downtown alley by unloading trucks.

COUNCIL unanimously agreed to receive bids for gasoline, Street Department supplies and fleet insurance for 1973, but there was one dissenting vote on the purchase of three 1973 model cruisers for the Police Department.

Councilman Billie Wilson voted "no" on the ordinance authorizing the purchase. He favored purchasing only two vehicles in view of the city's uncertain future financial condition. City Manager Dan Wolford informed Council that three cars had been planned for in the budget.

Former Ohioan slain in Denver

DENVER (AP) — A 35-year-old Denver man has been arrested in connection with the fatal shooting last Friday of a former Ohio man, Denver police reported Thursday.

Jessie J. Smith was being held for investigation of homicide, police said, in the death of Keve Bray, 47, a Black Muslim educator.

Bray was shot outside his east Denver apartment and died of two bullet wounds in the chest fired from a small-caliber weapon. The gunman reportedly ran from the scene.

Hung jury ends trial of trio in mine riots

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP)—The trial of three Ohio mineworkers on riot and blackmail charges has ended in a hung jury, although a fourth was declared innocent before the jury deadlocked.

Michael Deterio of New Philadelphia was cleared of the charges, but the jury deadlocked after 10 hours of deliberation on James Russell, William Bennell and Clarence Morgan, all of New Philadelphia.

All four had been charged with first- and second-degree riot, inciting to riot and blackmail in connection with a 1971 incident at the Empire coal mine near Gnadenhuetten during a national mineworkers strike.

The four are currently appealing an earlier conviction of second-degree riot in another 1971 incident at the Hardy coal mine near Sugar Creek during the same strike.

WCH Lunch Menu

Tuesday — Cold cuts on bun, dill slices, oven browned tater tots, green beans with ham seasoning, Jello square or fruit, sugar cookie, milk.

Wednesday — Spaghetti with meat sauce, cheese cup, green salad or chilled fruit, corn bread, butter, chocolate chip cookie, milk.

Thursday — Ham salad or peanut butter sandwich, French fried potatoes, green vegetables with butter seasoning, pineapple tid bits, cookie, milk.

Friday — Beef patty on bun, relished, oven browned potatoes, buttered corn, white cake with lemon frosting, milk.

ALSO UNANIMOUSLY approved was a resolution concerning the city's intent to vacate a portion of an alley in the Companys Addition at the request of Sam B. Marting, of Marting Manufacturing Co., who proposes to build a plant addition. The alley runs parallel to the rear property lines of Companys Addition lots 160, 159, 158 and 157, fronting on Campbell Street, and parallel to the rear property lines of lots 151, 152 and 153, fronting on Western Avenue, a total distance of 202.5 feet.

An ordinance was approved to establish a federal revenue sharing trust fund in order to receive federal revenue sharing money. The city also has received guidelines from the federal government concerning the use of the funds.

The city will receive three 1973 model police-equipped cars from the Hickman firm on its low bid of $9,141.37, the net delivered difference after the trade-in of three cars. The only other bid was from Carroll Halliday, Inc. for a net delivered difference of $10,526.

The city manager also was authorized to purchase salt for the Street Department from International Salt Co. on the basis of its low quotation of $12.19 per ton. The city formerly purchased salt from the Cargill Salt Co., of Cincinnati, but that firm bid $12.60 per ton this year.

Council authorized the payment of $1,587.91 to the Sever - Williams Construction Co. for the construction of partitions in new leased quarters in the Willis Building in which the city administrative offices will move later this month. The space was leased from the Willis firm in an "unfinished state," it was explained.

Councilman O'Brien explained that an aluminum ladder used in the bed of a truck by the City Street Department to trim trees, change street lights and other aerial work has been condemned by the Ohio Industrial Commission. He urged that Council purchase a portable hydraulic lift which fits into the bed of a pickup truck at a cost of $1,800. He also requested the purchase of an Econovac leaf vacuum at a cost of $8,500 which also will be used in cleaning catchbasins and in an emergency can be used for pumping sewage or water in the event of line breaks.

Council decided to set up appointments next week for demonstrations of the proposed equipment and, in the meantime, instructed City Manager Wolford to prepare ordinances for their purchase.

AT THIS point, Councilman John E. Rhoads, who has on occasion been a severe critic of the Street Department, thanked that department for the excellent job it has done in leaf collection in recent weeks, installing Christmas decorations in downtown Washington C. H., the "remarkable" job it completed on the Oakland Avenue bridge "at quite a savings to the city," and to the Police Department for its excellent cooperation it rendered concerning the blocking of alleys by trucks.

Nelson McCann, operator of a car wash in an alley behind the Sears store, W. Court Street, had complained that trucks unloading merchandise at the Sears store were blocking the alley for as much as two and three hours at a time. The city manager reported that he had already given the Police Department instructions on how to handle the alley situation.

City Manager Wolford also reported to Council that the City Planning Commission handled two requests in November — the addition of 10 lots to the Sugar Valley Subdivision plat and an area-wide review on an FHA proposal for 118 units in Storybrook Subdivision; and the Zoning Board of Appeals granted three variances — one for the construction of an office and warehouse at 730 Delaware St.; another for the operation of a lawnmower repair service in a garage at 1116 Washington Ave.; and the third for the occupancy of a garage apartment on Market Street.

Illustrated BIBLE LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

IN THE LAST DAYS God will establish an era of unbroken peace characterized by great religious interest, in which all men would seek His ways. Micah 4:1-2.

WHEN SWORDS become plowshares and spears pruning hooks, men will commit themselves and the resources of war to peaceful pursuits and enrichment of human life. — Micah 4:3-4.

What Kind of Peace?

Scripture -- Micah 4:1-4; Matthew 24:6-8; James 4:1-3.

WARS between nations, famines, pestilences and earthquakes — all of increasing frequency and intensity — will mark the beginning of the Messianic Age. — Matthew 24:6-8.

WHETHER the conflict is personal, civil or international, its roots are the lusts and selfishness of men. — James 4:1-3.

GOLDEN TEXT: Matthew 5:9.

Something to think about

BY: NED KINZER

You know, today there are a great number of people who have the wrong mental attitude toward just about everything they do.

Take our job, or profession for instance. If we would look at it from both the employer's and the employee's viewpoint and do so to the extent that money alone does not become the main objective, but knowing in our own minds that we have done the job to the very best of our ability, then we know we have attained the right mental attitude toward our own success.

Opening Lead Quiz

Here is an opening lead problem presented by the British Bridge World magazine to a group of international stars. You are South, East-West are vulnerable, and the bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1♦	Dble
5♦	5♥	Dble	Pass
Pass	Pass

Your hand is:
 ♠K743♥A♦J10964♣A82

Which card would you lead?
 The panel voted: 8 for the ace of hearts; 3 for the ace of clubs; two for the three of spades; 1 for the jack of diamonds.

Alan Hiron, conductor of the panel, commented: After this lively auction, it seems a good idea to lead an ace in order to inspect dummy before deciding upon the best method of attack. Unfortunately, it is possible this may be too late and releasing the ace can prove fatal. If the setting trick must come from a ruff in partner's hand, either the ace of clubs or a low spade lead looks better than the ace of hearts.

Other comments were:
 LE DENTU: Ace of hearts. I want to see dummy. I hope I won't be punished for being so curious!

CROWHURST: Ace of hearts. Curious bidding this; somebody is bidding on distribution. The defense must be directed onto the right lines as soon as possible and the ace of hearts surely cannot damage partner's hand.

FILARSKI: Three of spades. We may be able to come to a ruff somewhere. My plan is to lead a spade and when in with the ace of hearts try the ace of clubs. I should then be able to judge whether partner wants a spade ruff or another club.

NUNES: Ace of clubs. My first instinct was the ace of hearts, but why not the ace of clubs retaining trump control? If I do set up a club suit, there are unlikely to be any discards that matter while I've still got the ace of hearts.

COLLINGS: Ace of clubs. This will defeat the contract if partner has a singleton or doubleton club, or even a singleton spade (I can switch at trick two). The ace of hearts could be a disastrous lead, giving up control. P.S. Why did I double?

SMART: Jack of diamonds. All passion spent, all subtlety abandoned.

For the record, the ace of hearts would have been disastrous, for partner had a singleton club — as well as a singleton heart!

Injured gridder struggles to regain link to normalcy

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Dan Pashkewich, who went into a coma more than three years ago from a football injury, can wiggle fingers, crawl a bit and speak simple words now, his parents say.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Pashkewich of Lorain was a 195-pound, straight-A senior at Admiral King High School when the head injury occurred Oct. 22, 1969, during an afternoon scrimmage.

Through months of hospitalization, his weight dropped to 100 pounds.

Now, his parents say, he weighs 160 and appears to be gaining strength steadily.

He has been in a wheelchair in recent months and can respond with simple words — Ma, Pa, no, yes — after repeated urgings from his parents and the team of volunteers who work with him daily.

Part of the rehabilitation program involves a rolling crawl on a mat stretched on the floor. He is helped to the floor several times a day on a firm timetable.

Doctors have advised the Pashkewichs they should stress things which were his strengths before the injury. The family and their helpers have turned to mathematics, at which Dan was a whiz.

He slowly raises four fingers when asked for the square root of 16. Asked for his address, he shows 1-3-2-4 on his fingers, then raises three and then joins thumb and index finger to indicate 30th Street.

Attorney relocates in WCH

Robert L. Simpson, a native of Cincinnati, has become a partner in the general practice of law with Otis R. Hess Jr., in their offices located at 226 E. Market St., Hess announced today.

Simpson, 33, has been a practicing attorney in East Liverpool, Columbiana County, is a U.S. Navy veteran, serving in the Judge Advocate General's office among other tours of duty, and formerly was an associate editor with Lawyer's Co-op of Rochester, N.Y., a law publishing firm.

Simpson was a classmate of Hess' at the University of Cincinnati where they both were awarded juris doctorates in 1964. Simpson also holds a bachelor of science degree from Xavier University and a master of law degree from the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Fla., which he was awarded earlier this year.

Following graduation from the University of Cincinnati, Simpson served in the U.S. Navy for 3½ years with duty assignments in the Judge Advocate General's office in the Pentagon, as legal officer of the U.S. Naval Station in Trinidad, and trial and defense counsel at the U.S. Naval Base, Charleston, S.C.

He currently holds the rank of lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserve.

FOLLOWING separation from service, Simpson opened a private law practice in East Liverpool, where he also served as city solicitor, and then became associated with Lawyer's Co-op in Rochester, N.Y., before returning to school at the University of Miami (Fla.).

While a law student at the University of Cincinnati, Simpson became somewhat of a television personality on Jack Moran's Sports Night cap show on WCPO-TV, channel 9. From 1958 to 1964 he was a floor director for many of the live broadcasts at the Cincinnati television station and became known as "Suitcase Simpson" on Moran's sports show.

Simpson is married and has two children, Mary Ann, 4, and Heather, 3. His youngest child bears a typical Scottish name since his wife, Janette, is a native of Falkirk, Scotland. They met and married in Trinidad while Simpson was stationed there.

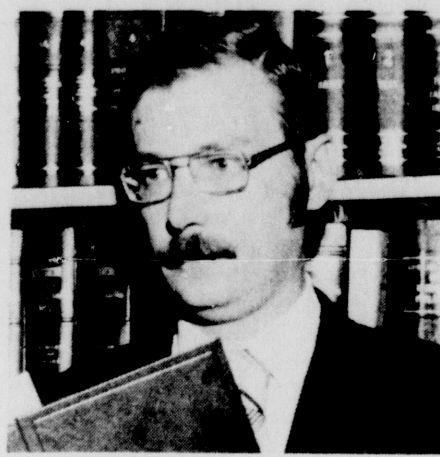

Simpson and his family are presently occupying an apartment on E. Paint Street until they secure a house.

Hess, also a Cincinnati native and the son of Judge Otis R. Hess Sr., presiding judge of the First District Court of Appeals, said the firm of Hess and Simpson will expand to the entire building where Hess' office is now located.

The expansion of the firm's private law practice will be in addition to Hess' assuming duties as Fayette County prosecutor in January, following his election Nov. 7.

The University of Hartford's prexy squares off with a student leader in a pie-throwing duel. Now that's the sort of campus demonstration we fancy.

Generally speaking, the various species of pine trees can grow on poor soils and in dry areas.

Mediation plan fights drug abuse

MIAMI (AP) — The Dade County School Board pays $35 per pupil so 20 teen-agers at Miami Springs High School can relax with their eyes closed. They're learning "transcendental meditation," a subject school officials hope will help prevent drug abuse.

The pupils — juniors and seniors — meet five mornings a week under the leadership of Donald Davis and Timothy Jones, two disciples of India's Maharishi Mahesh Yogi.

The Maharishi popped into prominence a few years ago when he became the spiritual advisor to The Beatles and Mia Farrow.

Hy Rothstein, head of health education for the school system, said the meditation program was tried as an experiment. "We read several journals which gave it pretty high marks in terms of drug prevention," he said.

Dr. Herbert Benson of the Harvard Medical School reported that 95 per cent of the drug users he interviewed said they stopped using drugs after they began practicing transcendental meditation, Rothstein said.

The students — none of whom school officials said are known to be drug users — are taught to concentrate on repeating a "mantra" — a syllable or word chant — for 20 minutes twice each day. Davis and Jones said each student is given his own syllable, which is kept secret.

Polaroid guarantees every picture you take with this camera. If you don't like it, you can take another one free.

Model 420 without Focused Flash

If you buy one of Polaroid's Focused Flash cameras during this special offer, every picture you take until next July will be guaranteed.

It's true. Polaroid guarantees you'll be delighted with all the pictures you take — or you'll get free film to take them over again.

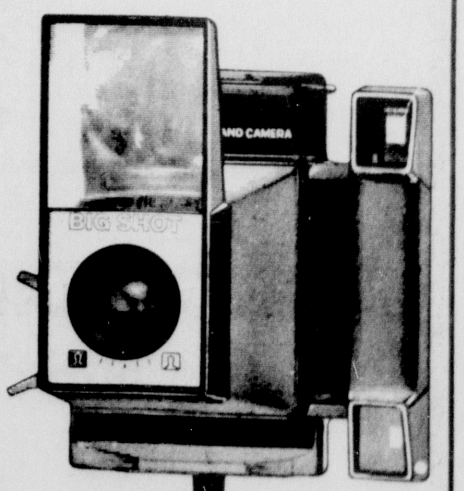

Here's how it works: You'll receive a booklet of coupons when you purchase your camera. Each one entitles you to return to Polaroid any color pictures you take and judge to be unsatisfactory for any photographic reason, for free replacement Colorpack film before July 1, 1973. Polaroid can offer this unusual guarantee because they feel the Focused Flash Land cameras and Colorpack Land film make an almost foolproof combination. Focused Flash keeps your flash shots from coming out too light or too dark. An electric eye and electronic shutter automatically controls your other shots. Indoors or out, there's never an exposure calculation to be concerned with. There are four models to choose from packed with features, and they all take guaranteed pictures.

Offer expires November 30, 1972. Void where prohibited.

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Ten o'clock on a Sunday morning is a lousy time to hold reveille anywhere, particularly in front of a television set. But you may want to make an exception this Sabbath.

The reason is that CBS Television is showing a fine one-hour special on the music of Johann Sebastian Bach in place of two regularly scheduled half-hour religious programs.

The show features beautiful photography and the superb musicianship of Rosalyn Tureck, who has been spreading the gospel according to Bach for most of her 59 years and is an authority on the composer.

Thankfully, at least for viewers who may have just a passing acquaintance with the works of Bach, the show isn't a nonstop recitation of one fugue after another.

It stops and lets her talk about her feelings toward the man and his music and catches her fussing like any musician in an unguarded moment over which selections to play and how to best phrase them.

The show was filmed last June at Miss Tureck's airy, spacious home in Pound Ridge, N.Y. Her living room overlooks a small pond and several acres of trees and flowers; it all appears in the program as a beautiful setting for the business at hand—the music.

Two friends, both musicians, are her audience—composer Robert Starer and pianist Kenneth Bishel, the latter a bearded young man who specializes in playing Bach on an electronic synthesizer called the Moog.

Starer is a good questioner, Bishel a good listener, and the combination brings out the best in Miss Tureck and puts her at ease.

"There's still a great deal of work to be done in understanding the mind of Bach and the vision of Bach," she says at the start of the program. Then she proceeds to illustrate what she's talking about.

The illustration includes a discussion about the personal life of Bach and the difficulties he endured while composing a prodigious amount of good music—including the considerable difficulty of raising 20 children while earning a living.

She performs his music on three instruments—the piano, clavichord and harpsichord—and frequently shifts from one to other to show the difference in sound and dynamics on a given selection.

The only sad thing is that the show appears at an hour most viewers are going to church or making excuses not to. Also, it is definitely set to appear only on the five CBS-owned stations. The network's affiliates may show it this Sunday or on another Sabbath.

Slate talks over steel pact dispute

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The county's 10 largest steel firms will meet with more than 600 United Steelworkers representatives next month in Washington to discuss a dispute over a productivity clause in their 1970 contract.

Millworkers reportedly are concerned that the clause may be used to boost productivity from some workers and pave the way for layoffs of others.

The seriousness of the conference is indicated by the scheduled appearances of USW President I. W. Abel and U.S. Steel Board Chairman Edwin H. Gott.

Abel agreed to the clause during bargaining last summer that averted a nationwide steel strike.

Abel repeatedly has assured Steelworkers that they are protected under the clause, which he claims was meant to save jobs and create new ones.

One source said the meeting was called by a union-management committee to "lay to rest fears of local union officers and workers...."

MT quartet lands All-District accolades

Jeff Spears selected as 'Lineman of Year'

A quartet of Miami Trace football players, who were instrumental in leading the Panthers to a fine 17-3 record in two seasons, were named to The Associated Press' All-Southeastern Ohio District all-star team today.

The senior foursome of Jeff Spears, Tony Grooms, Gardner Cobb and Pete Jones were named to the elite team by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters for the AP.

Spears, a 5-foot-10, 160-pound split end, was selected as the Lineman of the Year in the Southeastern Ohio District. The speedy senior, who was the All-South Central Ohio League split end two years in a row, grabbed 27 passes for 680 yards and eight touchdowns this year.

In two seasons, Spears hauled in 17 passes for 1,457 yards and 25 touchdowns. He averaged 19.6 yards per catch in two years.

GROOMS, perhaps the finest running back in Miami Trace's history and the Panthers' most valuable player this season, gained 1,408 yards in 176 rushes and scored 20 touchdowns this year. The 5-foot-10, 180-pounder also grabbed 13 passes for 306 carries for an 8.1 average. He scored 41 touchdowns in the two year span.

Jones, the smart-throwing Panther quarterback, completed 72 of 148 passes this season for 1,487 yards and 17 touchdowns. The 6-foot-2, 180-pounder had a fine 49.6 completion percentage in two years and hurled a total of 40 touchdown strikes.

Cobb, a 6-foot-3, 205-pound strongboy, was named the honorary captain of the All-SCOL offensive team this year. In league games only, Cobb, who has been described as the top defensive player in Miami Trace's history, figured in on 47 solo tackles, 15 behind the line of scrimmage and 30 other assisted stops. He blocked seven passes.

Trojan splurge spoils WCH's debut

Fourth period surge edges scrappy Lions

By MIKE FLYNN

Record-Herald Sports Editor Portsmouth's Trojans staged a flashy fourth period comeback to nudge a scrappy Washington C. H. team 57-54 and spoil the Blue Lions' season opener Wednesday night on the Trojan hardwoods.

Pat Spriggs, a husky 6-foot-3 senior who has been benched because of personal foul problems late in the third quarter, came to Portsmouth's rescue in the fourth quarter thriller as he scored six of his 10 points in sparking the Trojans to their first victory of the campaign.

Head coach Gary Shaffer's pesky Blue Lions flashed a sticky man-to-man defense in the foul-plagued, but hard-fought struggle and rode the tidy defensive effort to slender leads in the early going, but saw it collapse in the closing moments when Portsmouth zipped from a third period deadlock to the three-point victory spread.

KEITH WILLIAMSON, the Trojans' velvety 6-foot-0 senior cornerman, led all comers with 19 points on the basis of nine field goals and a free throw, and it was Williamson who combined with Spriggs to vanish Washington C. H.'s fourth quarter hopes.

A trio of Blue Lion landed double digit figures paced by smooth-shooting senior Dick Witherspoon who canned five field goals and the same number of free throws for 15 points. Chuck Bath, the Lions' top pointmaker a year ago, was next in line with 15 markers and slick senior forward Joe Downs popped in 10 points before being sidelined with the limit of personal fouls late in the contest.

Jim Oliver, younger brother of Pittsburgh Pirates' star outfielder Al Oliver, turned in a sparkling substitute performance. The chunky 6-foot-0 junior was one of Portsmouth's inside keys after coming off the bench to replace a foul-hampered Rick McGlone. Oliver poured in eight points in the contest.

The Blue Lions, after a pair of free throws from Bath, drew the first blood, but the Trojans countered quickly to ignite the first-quarter see-saw scoring battle. After the Trojans had registered an 8-4 margin the Lions mounted a six-point splurge behind smooth senior guard Chris Shaper's keen floor play and the boardwork of Downs.

Bo Clemens and Williamson hooked up on some tidy full-court rushes and the Lions managed to escape with a 16-14 period upper hand.

Witherspoon sparked the Lions in the second period, but Portsmouth, behind Oliver's neat inside work, outscored the Fayette Countians 20-19 to close the

Quantico Marines play final contest

CINCINNATI (AP) — Quantico football coach Ron Eckert, a muscular, career marine, admitted he cried before the team's final game Thursday.

"I was more emotional today than I've ever been before a game," said Eckert, unable to manage even a grin after the Marines' 34-0 victory over Xavier-Ohio. "I even cried, although I thought I was mentally prepared."

Eckert, a major who coached the team through a 9-3 season in 1971 and 8-4 record this year, said he guesses "I'll go back to being a marine" since the football program is being dropped.

Defending SCOL kings falter in cage debut

CHILlicothe — Ross Southeastern, behind a 31-point fourth quarter scoring spree, spanked Greenfield McClain 83-61 Wednesday night.

A trio of Panthers scored in double digits and head coach Larry Jordan's boys took advantage of a whopping 55-35 rebounding margin to spoil the opener for the defending South Central Ohio League champs.

Duane Francis, a 6-foot-2 senior, popped in 20 points while Mac Bardee canned 15 and Kevin Hill hit 12 in leading Ross Southeastern to its second straight win of the season.

gap to 35-34 at intermission.

WITHERSPOON and Bath were Washington C. H.'s top scoreboys in the first half by canning 10 and eight points, respectively, while the Blue Lions fired a sizzling 50 per cent from the floor hitting on 10 of 20 attempts. Portsmouth's shooters hit 15 of 37 tries with Oliver and Williamson owning eight points apiece.

The two teams locked horns in a tight defensive struggle in the third period with Washington C. H. holding the lead until Spriggs stole the ball and drove the length of the court for a bucket to give Portsmouth its first lead (40-38) since the late stages of the second canto. Witherspoon knotted the count with a short jumper and then scored a pair of free throws for a 42-40 lead before Williamson swished the nets to knot the score 42-42 at the end of three quarters.

A sticky Trojan defense permitted the Lions only one shot in the tight fourth period before Spriggs popped off the bench and hit a long jumper to give Portsmouth a 52-50 lead and one it never relinquished. Spriggs scored four points from the charity stripe later to seal the win.

WLW's witty James O'Neill Lion grid banquet speaker

James Frances Patrick O'Neill, WLW radio's "Morning mayor," will be the featured speaker at the annual Washington C. H. Blue Lion football banquet which will be held at 6:30 P.M. Monday in the WSHS cafeteria. In addition to the popular radio personality, another highlight has been planned for the athletic department and booster club-sponsored event.

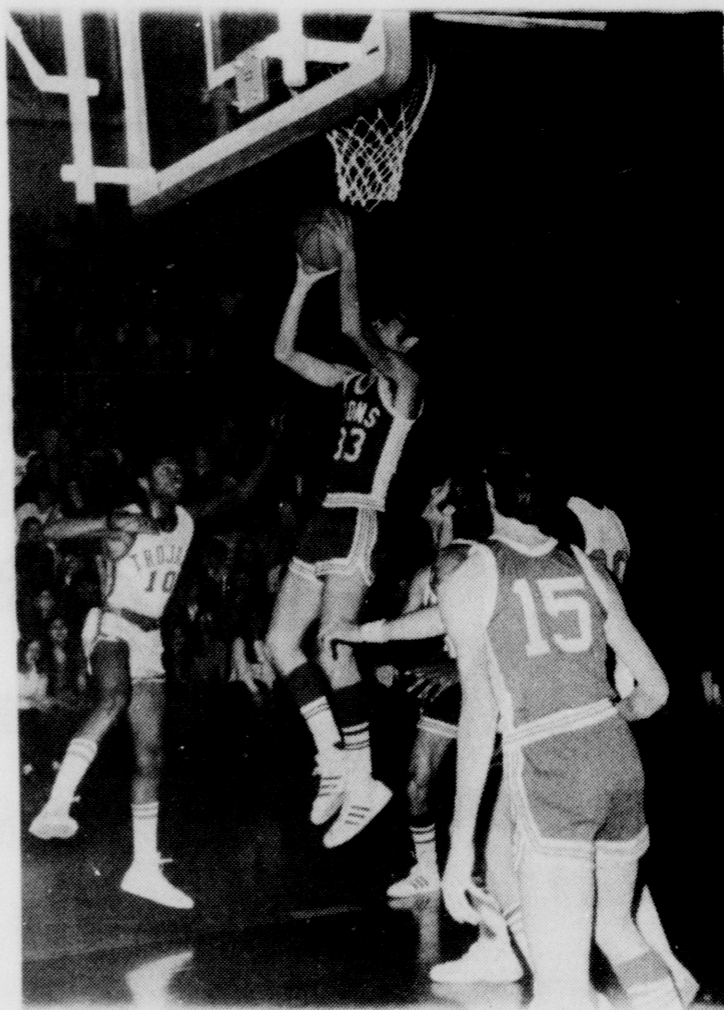

Members of the 1952 Washington C. H. football team, which is celebrating its 20th anniversary of the legendary unbeaten season, have been invited to attend as honored guests.

ANOTHER highlight of the banquet will be the presentation of awards to members of head coach Maurice Pfeifer's 1972 Blue Lion team which registered a 6-4 all-games record and finished in a three-way tie for second place in the South Central Ohio League with a 3-2 mark.

Pfeifer said the announcement of the team's most consistent and most improved player, plus the team's leading tackler will top the awards ceremonies. O'Neill was chosen as the banquet speaker because of his keen interest in Washington C. H.'s imaginary professional football team, "The Off-sides." Lion jayvees drop opener Portsmouth's reserve basketball team, employing four players in double figures, scored a convincing 79-48 triumph over the Washington C. H. Blue Lions Wednesday night.

Dave Underwood, a fluid 6-foot-0 sophomore, topped the double figure scoring attack for Coach Jack Gee's Trojans with 22 points on the basis of 11 field goals. Pint-sized guard Mike Goolsby chipped in with 14 points, while Rick Williamson and Greg Anderson scored 12 and 10 markers, respectively.

Underwood canned 12 of his 22 counters in the opening period as the Trojans stepped to a slender 22-17 lead. Portsmouth unleashed a balanced scoring effort in the second quarter which stacked up 26 points and a 48-26 advantage at intermission.

TURNOVERS plagued Coach John Skinner's Lions as they were guilty of 12 miscues in the first half.

Washington C. H. was held to a mere five points in the third stanza and Portsmouth notched 18 to jump to a commanding 66-31 bulge. Both coaches substituted freely in the final frame and the Blue Lions outscored the Scioto Countians 17-13.

Garth Cox, Washington C. H.'s burly junior pivotman, topped the Lion scorers with nine points and sophomore guard Jim Vess chimed in with eight markers, all in the first quarter.

JUST FOR FUN

Were we to mention an open air car today, we automatically think of the "convertible" automobile which, at the press of a button the top folds up by itself and stores itself into a compartment at the rear, hidden away as though it was never there at all.

By looking back in the life histories of automobiles, we would find that as far as 1905, there were open air cars. There was the car with the "canopy top", a top which was permanently fixed in place by braces and covered the whole car. The "cape top" could be raised or lowered but sheltered only the rear seat, and the "folding top" was supported by braces mounted alongside the front seat and took at least two people to fold back and forth. So you see, our convertible, open air, automobiles are merely progress of the preserved past.

If you are a lover of fresh air, and the wide open spaces, you'll want to team up with a HONDA motorcycle, that can take you everywhere and anywhere, on or off the beaten path. HONDA has the ability to glide over smooth paved roads and is surefooted and dependable on hills and terrains as well. PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

A relatively easy day — once you get the gist of trends and go ahead at a steady tempo. Personal relationships highly favored.

YOU BORN TODAY are noteworthy for your integrity, wisdom, tolerance and affectionate nature. You are something of a dreamer but, if you can make yourself "come down to earth," there will be nothing to stop you from attaining any lofty goal to which you aspire, for your talents are many. You have an affinity for science, a gift for the technical; would make an outstanding chemist or engineer.

There are nearly 500 million Moslems in the world.

Three drivers charged in 11 holiday mishaps

Three drivers were cited by city police and sheriff's department in 11 holiday traffic mishaps investigated during the past two days, including one involving a farm tractor.

An early morning crash on Gregg Street Thursday caused heavy damage to the two cars involved.

According to police, a car driven by Larry D. Johns, 31, of 425 Eastern Ave., was traveling westbound on Gregg Street when it went left of center and collided headon with a parked car owned by Chester A. Bryan, of 631 Gregg St. Officers said the brakes on the Johns car apparently failed as he attempted to stop.

Johns was cited for defective brakes and failing to apply for a certificate of title.

Billie M. Shaw, 44, of 436 Jupiter St., was charged with failing to yield the right of way in a two-car crash on Delaware at Gregg Street at 7:18 a.m. Friday.

Investigating officers said a car driven by Marion P. Lightle, 31, of 515 Gibbs Ave., was headed southbound on Delaware when the Shaw car, eastbound on Gregg Street, entered the intersection. The cars collided in the southbound lane.

Damage to both cars was heavy.

Fayette County man charged in market robbery

GREENFIELD — A Fayette County man has been bound to the Highland County grand jury under $3,000 bond in connection with the Sunday theft of $650 from Bob's Super Valu supermarket here.

Ralph E. Rogers, 34, of Snow Hill Rd., just southwest of Washington C.H., was arrested by Greenfield police Wednesday in a Greenfield tavern. Rogers pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny in Madison Township County Court nine hours later.

The grand theft charge was placed against Rogers rather than an armed robbery count since a gun was not actually seen by the store clerk during the robbery, according to Police Chief Guy Hunter.

Chief Hunter said a tip was received from a person who was innocently involved in the robbery incident. He said the person was in possession of at least part of the money for a short time, but did not elaborate further.

Terry Hull, 17, daughter of the store owner and the clerk who was victimized during the holdup, tentatively identified Rogers' picture in a file at the Police Department Tuesday. A search for Rogers was then launched, ending in his capture at a tavern early Wednesday.

The money taken in the robbery has not been recovered, Chief Hunter said.

Driver training complications at WSHS solved

What at first seemed to be some complications in getting the Washington Senior High School driver education course under way now appear to be pretty well ironed out.

The problems developed when there were 73 registrations for the course for which the maximum enrollment is 56 for the two classes.

So, a meeting was held to explain that the list had been reduced to 56 by accepting the oldest from the advance registration of 73 students. However, only 50 came to the meeting and that opened the door for six more to enter; these vacancies were filled by taking the six oldest remaining on the original list of registrants.

The 10 to 15 students remaining on the original registration list, plus others who are expected to register later, will be able to take the course next March.

The instructors Jon Creamer and John Armstrong, explained the fundamentals of the course at the meeting and collected the $5 fees. Students are required to purchase their own textbooks.

The course, which started this week, will continue until March, when the second course will be started.

Students will have two hours of classroom study three days a week and two hours of actual experience behind the wheel the other three days.

'College Career Night' Dec. 4

Students in seven high schools in this area, who are planning to go to college, and their parents will have an opportunity to learn more about a wide variety of courses, costs and many other details at College and Career Night Monday, Dec. 4, at Miami Trace High School.

Principals and guidance counselors of Miami Trace, Washington C. H., Madison Plains, Circleville, Hillsboro, Wilmington and Greenfield high schools have urged students and their parents to attend the session and discuss educational and career opportunities in such fields as sciences, medicine, arts, drafting, auto mechanics, barbering, business, home economics, data processing, cosmetology, education, electronics, health, law and liberal arts with representatives of several colleges and business institutions.

College and Career Night, sponsored by the MTHS National Honor Society chapter, will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium with an explanation of the purposes of the program. Following the introductory session, the students and their parents may attend four 20-minute sessions with representatives of colleges and courses in which they are most interested.

INCLUDED will be a slide presentation on health careers, financial aid and a special program on engineering.

Landowner wounded by shotgun pellets

A Fayette County man suffered a slight shotgun wound on his left hand in a hunting accident on a Cook-Yankeetown Road farm Thursday morning.

Sheriff's deputies said Dr. A.D. Troxell, 47, was struck in the left hand by a blast fired by a hunter on his farm. Dr. Troxell told officers he was attempting to contact the three hunters, who were trespassing on his land near the Deer Creek public hunting area, when one of the three men fired at a rabbit. Several pellets from the gun hit Dr. Troxell in the hand.

He said he ordered the three men off his land and treated himself for the minor wound.

Sheriff's deputies also investigated another hunting-related accident which caused damage to a truck.

James Larkins, Rt. 6, reported that a truck parked beside a barn on a New Martinsburg Road farm received damage to the radiator when it was struck by several shotgun pellets. He said pellets apparently fired by hunters also struck another truck and the barn.

Hendrix Callahan Jr., of 213 E. Paint St., reported to police that someone stole the battery from his car Wednesday night. Officers said the cables had been cut. Loss was set at $38.

The saber-toothed tiger, which existed only in pre-historic times, had two fanglike teeth that were as long as eight inches.
